the points of controversy that he could the sweep of the prairies, the gl the points of controversy that he contained the sweep of the prairies, the glory hardly see how either could withdraw. So for an readiness for the impending condict was concerned neither were in a condition to undertake it. The Russian army was deficient in many of the accompaniments to a vigorous prosecution of active hostilities, while the Turkish government is in a state of pecuniary distress which is beyond remedy. Russia herself, he further said, was not in the most flattering condition to stand such a drain upon her financial resources. He supposed that it was still possible to avoid a war if these considerations should come living before the attention of the two governments. When all other means of settlement shall have passed he thought if the struggle commenced there was notling on the part of Russia which would be likely to draw other nations into the vortex.

Notwithstanding their present declares.

Notwithstanding their present declaration of a purpose to maintain a strict neutrality, should Russia, in her offensive operations, move beyond the Pruth and take aposition upon the soil of Moldavia, thus endangering the embouchure of the Danube, Germany and Austria would be compelled to interpose. At one time the mouth of this great artery of trade was held by Russia, but subsequently, in the eadjustment of boundaries, it was assigned to Turkish dominion thatit might be less liable to the exercise of a jurisdiction which would be hostile to the powers interested in its open navigation. This important atream rises in the mountains of Baden and flows with increasing volume through the rich Principality of Hohensollern, Wurtemberg and Bavaria, entering the Austrian dominions at Instandit, thence flowing through its entire breadth, and through Notwithstanding their present declaraough its entire breadth, and through flungary into the Turkish territory thence into the black Sea. Upon its pop-ulous and fertile banks are the great cities of Vienna, Presburg and Pesth and Its Save. Thiesse and tributaries are the Saye, Thiesse and Drave, upon whose waters, as well as upon the Danube itself, is carried an important trade to the Black Sea. Therefore, from the position of things, both Germany and Austria will find it important to be prepared for any emergency that may impede navigation, or the means of tradeenjoyed by them over this great stream.

Should Russia interfere in the direction of the stream of the st great stream.

Should Russia interfere in the direction of the catabilished boundaries or in conflict with the interest of the Christian anions by an attempt to establish their authority upon the bank of the Bosphorus, it would be regarded as jeopardizing the interests, not only of the nations named, but more particularly the British Empire. The necessity which led the Empire. The necessity which led the English to purchase a controlling interest in the Suez canal gives them a justification of any course they may decide to take for the protection of British interests in the Turkish dominion. France and Italy, he thought, would have but little interest in the conflict, but in case the other patient hereafted in the conflict interest in the conflict, but in case the other patient hereafted in the conflict interest in the conflict but in case. the other nations became involved might find it necessary to participate to defend their own autonomy.

Bob Ingersoll on Temperance I am aware that there is a prejudice against any man engaged in the manufacure of sloohal. I believe gentleman, to a certain extent, it demor slizes those who sell it and those who drink it. I believe from the time it issues from the poisoned and coiled worm in the distillery until it empties into the hell of death, dishonor and crime, that it demoralizes everybody that touches it from its source to where it ends. I do no believe anybody can contemplate the sub-ject without becoming prejudiced against ject without becoming prejudiced against that liquor crime. All we have to do, gentlemen, is to think of the wrecks on either bank of the river of death, of the suicides, the insanity, of the poverty, of the ignorance, of the destitution, of the little children tugging at the faded breasts of weeping and despairing wives, asking for bread, of the men of genius it has wrecked, the men struggling with imaginary serpents produced by this devillah thing; and when you think of the prisons, of the sanifolds upon either bank, I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against the damming man is prejudiced against the damning stuff that is called alcohol.

Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength, and in its weakness. It breaks the father's heart, bereaves the doting mother, extinguished natural affection, erases conjugal love, blots out filial attachment, blights parental hope, and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave. It produces weaknese, not strength; sickness, not health death, not life. It makes wives widows, children orphans, fathers fiends, and all of them paupers and beggars. It feeds rheutnalism, nurses gout, welcomes epidemics, invites cholera, imports pestilence, and embraces consumption. It covers the land with idleness, poverty, disease and crime. It fills your jails, supplies your almshouses, and demands your asylums. It engenders controversies, fosters quarrels, and cherishes riots. It is the life-blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar, the prop of the highwayman, and the support of the incendiary. It countenances the liar, respects the thief, and esteems the bissphemer. It violates obligations, reverences fraud and honors infamy. It defames betweelence, hates love, scorns virtue, and slanders innocence, It incites the father to butcher his helpless offspring, helps husbands to massacre wives, and helps the child to grind the pariedial axe. It burns up men, consumes women, detests life, curses God and despites heaven. It subborus with the substantial of the subborus with the substantial contractions politics our institutions and endangere our Government. It degrades the citizen, debases our legislature, dishonors the natural affection, erases conjugal love, blots out filial attachment, blights parenlutes our institutions and endangers our Government. It degrades the citizen, debases our legislature, dishonors the statesman and distrins the patriot. It brings shame, not honor; terror, not safety, despair, not hope; misery, not safety despair, not hope; misery, not happiness; and with the malevolence of a field, it calmly surveys its frightful desolation, and, unsatiated with havoe, it poisons felicity, kills pence, ruins merals, blights confidence, slays reputation, and wipes out national honor, then curses the world and laughs at the ruin. It does all that and more—it murders the soul. It is the sum of all villatines, the father of all crimes, the mother of all shomion-tions, the devil's beat friend and God's worst enemy.
